interests. Mrs. Hammond is dent of the local Federated member of the Board of the Daughter's Home, suffragette power and activity, a shining D. A. live wire in the Christian and one of the best bridge players in town. She is a fluent and interesting conversationalist, handing in appearance and gracious in per. Mrs. Hammond's strong personality has made a lasting imon this community.

PUSING my fixed policy of saying nothing that is not highly complimentary about individuals or institutions, so that my unprecedented popularity may continue to flourish, I must declare that our Chautauqua was a success from every viewpoint. The musical part of the program was especially pleasing and each group of artists labored mightly to excel the other and some of them did. Even I, though brought up on "Turkey in the Straw," "The Devil's Lame" and kindred old-time favorites of the plain people was thrilled by the more pretentious if not more modern offerings of the Redpath troupe. But, Oh! Must I be carried to the skies before I hear a band made through its repertoire and omit "Overture from William Tell?" I did die and be forgotten before I an orchestra fade away through the canvas, without leaving an of "La Miesse," and the extreme to "Lucia?" Have the composers been on a strike for forty years; are all the tune factories shut and the melody foundries in repossession? Can't something be done that this trio of hoary and grisly grams can be retired from the fic-line to the encore reserves?

OUR HUNDRED "red heads" from five states met in Indianapolis last week and organized the "Redhead League of America." Having the turbulent "ginger tops" in my family to contend with, I extend sympathy to the worthy citizens of Indiana's metropolis. To have four hundred "Titan" imports added to stock on hand would put a strain on the best organized police and fire department of any city in the world.

Mrs. David Davidson and daughter, Mrs. O. C. Willard gave a delightful conversation Thursday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. J. N. Crebs, of St. Louis, and Mrs. C. C. Hammond, who will leave next week for Salisbury. The hostess served a dainty lunch at the close of the afternoon.

Mrs. Steve Regan, of Kansas City, is the guest of W. J. Botts and family.
The Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Botts on Wednesday Thursday afternoon. Mrs. W. F.
Smith and Mrs. E. L. Cass were the leaders. Mrs. W. W. Botts, Mrs. Rutledge and Miss Martha Brown were hostesses. Mrs. Steve Regan, of Kansas City, and Mrs. Painter, of Joplin, were out-of-town guests.

Miss Pauline Willard gave a line party at the Orpheum Thursday afternoon for her guest, Miss Lucille Quina of Columbia. Refreshments were served in the rainbow room of the Gen. Her guests were Misses Margaret Wilson, Pauline Van Ness, feld, Mary Worrell, Virginia Grebs and Ruth Harper.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the party given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. W. L.
Kent, complimentary to Mrs. Nannie Moore, of Dayton, Ohio. The guests were former class-mates of Mrs.
Moore. They indulged in reminiscent talk and many happy occasions were recalled. During the afternoon a guessing contest was arranged by the hostess. The answers were the names of flowers at which each guest proved adept, showing that the pathos of the different friends had all been strewn with flowers. The hostess is recognized as an adept in the culinary department and her dainty two-course lunch was enjoyed by all. The guests were: Mesdames Amelia Bickley, Mary Harper, W. J. Rixey, Ella Mason, J. W. Mason, Mamie Craig, C. N.
Gill, Mark Pilcher, Edward Rowland, Lawder, W. J. Mason; Mrs. E. D. Gram-ham, in her clever way, read this touching poem:

The Stolen Prayer.
Let me do my work each day; and if The darkened hours of despair overcome me, May I not forget the strength that comforted me In the desolation of other times. May I Still remember the bright hours that found me Walking over the silent hills of my childhood, Or dreaming on the margin of the quiet river
When a light glowed within me, And I promised my early God to have Courage amid the tempests of the changing years.
Spare me from the bitterness and the sharp passions Of unguarded moments. May I not forget That poverty and riches are of the spirit.
Though the world know me not,
May my thoughts and actions be such,
As shall keep me friendly with myself.

Lift my eyes from the earth and let me Not forget the uses of the stars.
Forbid that I should judge others, lest I condemn myself.
Let me not feel the glamor of the world,
But walk calmly in my path. Give me A few friends who will love me And keep ever burning before my vagrant steps,
The kindly light of hope; and, though Age and infirmity overtake me, and I Come not within sight of the castle of my dreams,
Teach me still to be thankful for life.
And for time's olden memories that are Good and sweet; and may the evening twilight Find me gentle still.

Mrs. Edward Kuhne and daughter

THE REV. H. L. DAVIS WRITES OF PRISON LIFE

The Rev. Howard L. Davis, formerly of this city, who was recently released from the Federal Prison at Atlanta, Ga., where he was placed after conviction on a charge of misusing the mails, writes the following interesting letter giving an insight into the character of those who were his fellow prisoners:

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., 813 Hogan Street, August 26, 1916. Mexico Ledge, Mexico, Mo.: My Dear Sirs—Thinking that perhaps you might want some facts in my case prompts me to write you. You need not use all of this or any part of it if you do not want it. If you do use it, I would like a copy of the issue in which it appears.
President Wilson, at the request of a number of the Bishops of our Church, two Connectional Officers, the Chaplain of the United States Senate, Representatives, Senators and Senators, commuted my sentence July 20th.

I am not the only one that has been injured by the miscarriage of justice, which will be seen by the following facts I gleaned while at Atlanta; of the 1200 men in there only about one-fourth of them are real criminals; another fourth are mentally defective and should have been sent to an asylum; another one fourth are the unwitting infringers of the law and should have been given another chance. There are from fifty to seventy-five thousands laws, counting the state and federal laws, and not many know them all. Then new laws are being enacted daily, so what may have been a virtue yesterday is a vice today. The other fourth are innocent people, caught up by the penal net as it drags its way through society, "gathering of every kind." I saw bright, innocent boys taken in by the heartless penal system.

The men I met there are just such people as I had known as a minister all my life; farmers, mechanics, merchants, doctors, lawyers, editors, teachers, ministers, etc. The difference between the men I saw in there and those I had known on the outside is the difference in quantity.
If the present rule were put into full practice by the authorities there would be from 50 to 70 million of our citizens behind prison bars. As it is there are annually being incarcerated a half million at a cost of six billion dollars, or about $900 in taxes per family.
This amount is equal to what it costs to run the National Government.

After a careful study of the penal system I came to the conclusion that the philosophy of the whole thing is irrational, undemocratic, barbarous, medieval, unchristian and that in its effect upon human society it is damning and damnable.

HOPES INTERVENTION IS NOT NECESSARY

J. R. Bondurant, of El Paso, Tex., formerly of Vandalla, this county, was in the city Wednesday on his way home from Washington, where he had been on business. Mr. Bondurant has resided in Texas for the past fourteen years and is in the oil business. He says he hopes we do not have to intervene in Mexico.
"If we do intervene," said he, "I trust it will follow an agreement that such intervention will come from this country only when the leaders of Mexico will prove their inability to govern and will really call for aid.
This will place us in the proper light before the countries of South America and show we enter Mexico, not for the purpose of acquiring territory."

WEST FOR WILSON.
J. W. Woodbridge, who returned from Colorado, Thursday, accompanied Dr. J. F. Harrison, while in Denver, to hear Candidate Hughes speak.
Mr. Woodbridge said there was little enthusiasm at the meeting and that he felt every speech made by the Republican nominee was benefitting the Democratic party.

Mr. Woodbridge states the West seems almost a unit for Wilson. While in Colorado Springs he met A. P.
Green and family who were on their way to the coast.

SHOE REPAIRING HIGHER.
The Mexico shoe repair shops have raised their prices on work because of the increased cost of material.
Their announcement will be found elsewhere in this issue of the Ledger.
While the increase is not great, they feel that the extra expense for doing business has justified them in this move. Material, especially leather, has made material advance during the past year.

TIME TO ACT.
Don't wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Disease—Profit by Mexico People's Experiences.
Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urination, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Don's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Mexico proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.
